Dear Bob:

Thank you very much for agreeing to extend [redacted] to USTR until November 1987. We are extremely grateful to you for the Agency's continued assistance.

I agree with you that these non-reimbursable details benefit both agencies. USTR gains the use of the talents and experience of CIA officers [redacted] and, we hope, provides them with considerable "hands on" policymaking and negotiating experience.

Thanks again for your generosity.

Sincerely,

Michael B. Smith

Dear Mike:

Thank you for your letter of 28 October concerning the performance of [redacted] I am pleased, but not surprised, to hear that he has done a fine job for you.

I fully appreciate the constraints that you are working under and the importance of the issues [redacted] On the 16th of October the Agency agreed to extend [redacted]

Regrettably, we face many of the same problems you do: no shortage of pressing issues and the need for good people to work on them. I am willing, however, to agree to one additional six-month extension [redacted]

[redacted] November 1987. I do not believe we can extend him beyond that.

I very much appreciate your expression of thanks, but I believe the Agency gains as much from these rotations as it gives. A stint with USTR or other agencies invariably produces a more sophisticated and policy-conscious analyst. So, please accept my thanks for the opportunities you have provided [redacted]

October 28, 1986

Mr. Robert M. Gates
Deputy Director for Central Intelligence
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, D.C.

Dear Bob:

During the past year, one of your most talented officers [redacted] 25X1
[redacted] has been on non-reimbursable detail to USTR from 25X1 the Agency's Office of East Asian Analysis. [redacted] 25X1 an outstanding job here as our Director [redacted] 25X1

[redacted]

Largely as a result of Bill's efforts, USTR is now in the midst of a major new series of trade policy initiatives vis a vis the

[redacted]

Regretably, however, we face a situation in which USTR's size and personnel ceiling prevent us from being able to create additional slots to carry out all the work that must be done. In Bill's case, much as we need him, we do not have a slot available in our personnel allotment. The Agency has been helpful to us in providing Bill's services this year as a non-reimbursable detail (and I would add, the services of other talented officers as well), and we are deeply appreciative. My purpose in writing you today, therefore, is to request your continued assistance in this instance. USTR would be extremely grateful to you and the Agency if you were to extend Bill's detail for another year.
